Confort 900 DP – Ideal for two couples

The Confort 900 DP is an ideal inland waterway boat for two couples. It features two separate cabins, divided by a central saloon, ensuring maximum privacy for all on board. Both cabins offer generous space, with a headroom of approximately 2 metres, and direct access to their own private bathroom.

Meticulously maintained throughout its life

Our inland waterway cruisers are rigorously maintained throughout the boating season. Every winter, they are taken out of the water for a thorough inspection and complete overhaul of the deck and hull, together with the application of antifouling.

The benefits of our professional service network

Thanks to our network of bases across France, several locations can offer you a wide range of services. Our teams have in-depth knowledge of our boats and extensive technical expertise, including:

Mooring and berthing for your boat
Winter storage and maintenance repairs
Installation of additional equipment
Assistance with obtaining your boating licence
After-sales service and spare parts
What is the annual maintenance cost?

Nicols inland waterway cruisers feature a durable GRP (glass-reinforced polyester) hull, keeping maintenance costs very low. Their simple, practical and functional design, originally developed for the boat rental market, also helps minimise maintenance expenses.

As a private owner, you should plan to have the boat taken out of the water every 3 to 4 years. Routine maintenance in between is similar to that of a car, including regular oil changes and standard servicing.
